

Play Dough Recipe

After playing with the silky play dough, my hands feels like they came home from a spa treatment... Seriously we LOVE this stuff.

NOTE: This is inedible play-dough and should not be used with kids who are still putting things into their mouths.

So what did we need to create our silky play dough?

1 part Hair Conditioner

2 parts Corn Starch.

That's it.

We added some food coloring for diversity.

Since not all hair conditioners are the same consistency, you may need to alter the amounts just a bit so it is dough consistency.

Think of this as a mix between playdough and cloud dough. It is light and airy like cloud dough, but molds better as the conditioner helps the cornstarch become more pliable. Another fun thing you can make with cornstarch is Oobleck. We've had lots of fun playing with oobleck in the past on Kids Activities Blog.

We have also made goop or silly putty with cornstarch. It is such a fun ingredient to have in your craft cabinet!

Gift Idea

We made our Silky Play Dough as a gift for a friend. We packaged the play dough up with glitter, a couple of play dough toys (rolling pin, cookie cutters, sequins, etc) and cupcake liners. Everything a princess needs for her own magical pretend play.
